Sally,

Since there isn't a whole lot of space, I'll have to write here.

We had fun at G.H.S.

I've really enjoyed you this year, Sally. Especially in home room and assemblies. What a ball. I about had heart failure the day you not canceled on the school in the auditorium.

But thank goodness it wasn't too serious.

Stayin' positive & we'll have a ball!

I hope this next year will be as much fun as this year & I'm sure you'll feel the same way.

We'll be real sweet to all Sally and all the other girls, always.

Best of luck till I sign again next year.

A friend,

As we travel through the seasons at GHS, we pass through phases which we will never forget... the friends we have made, the knowledge we obtained from our teachers, the days in classrooms, and the fun we had doing things together in all the extra-curricular activities.

With the Autumn, the doors of Garrett High School opened to all students, and new faces and old began to blend into familiarity when activities such as football and dances resumed for another year.

All students looked with eagerness toward the learning and guidance they received from their teachers and from the new principal and his assistant. Yes, students of Garrett High School looked forward to the Autumn season with true school spirit.

With the new school year coming, the students are looking forward to the new activities and the new year.

Research, analizing, and experimenting make the sciences, such as chemistry, biology, and physics more interesting. Today's world has a grave need for more scientists, and these subjects offer the students a better knowledge of the past world and future atomic age.

The mathematics courses are others that are of great benefit to all. They prepare students for every phase of business training: from the ordinary housewife figuring out a grocery budget to the hardworking engineer drawing on a scale the blueprints for a construction project.

"It's Greek to me," is what non-shorthand students say everytime they encounter a shorthand paper. Really, this course is almost a must in securing a good secretarial job. Also, typing is very helpful for future work, both in business and in college. Themes are always on the college agenda, and one has a much easier time if he is able to type his own. Also, typewritten themes have a better chance for a higher grade.

Driver-Training is one course in school that is completed out-of-doors in any weather. Although this course covers only one semester, the benefits obtained in this short time are innumerable. Students not only learn the important parts of the automobile, but how to operate it as well. The greatest benefit is learning to avoid the many highway accidents caused by improper teaching and lack of knowledge about the safety rules.

Exercise and sportsmanship are the two main things that gym classes offer. The exercises include volleyball, basketball, dancing, and outdoor sports. These help keep our bodies healthy and aid in good co-ordination. The sportsmanship learned through participating in the different activities by playing on teams, keeps everyone cheerful and helps us in society all of our lives.

"Where is the ball?" That seems to be the question of the moment.

On August 15, seventy boys reported for football. Of this number, only seven were returning lettermen of the previous year's conference championship team.

An inexperienced Railroader squad met the New Haven Bulldogs on the local field for their first game. Both teams were held scoreless until the third quarter when John Kobiela broke loose to catch a 22-yard pass and set up Garrett's only TD of the game. Helbert split the uprights to give Garrett a 7-6 victory. With one conference victory tucked away, the Railroaders traveled to Hicksville. Garrett triumphed over Hicksville 12-0.

Concordia came to Garrett a 25-point favorite. Despite this fact, the Railroaders held the Cadets to a scoreless tie for the second straight season.

The Railroaders entertained the Decatur Yellow Jackets in another conference game which proved to be a battle between the strong defenses of both teams. Garrett received a Decatur punt late in the last period on the Decatur 39-yard line. After seven plays, with some keen blocking by the line, the ball was toted by Gary Leggett for a Garrett score. Carson Culler sped around the other end for a 7-0 victory.

On September 27, the Railroaders traveled to Kendallville to meet a strong Comet team. Garrett's ground game was stopped for the first three quarters; then quarterback Melvin Culler took to the air and hit Gary Leggett on a 7-yard pass play to take the lead. With two minutes left in the game, the Comets threw a desperation pass to score and made good the PAT to win an all-important conference game 7-6.

Two flu-ridden teams took the field a week later when the Railroaders played the Central Tigers, and lost to the highly touted Tiger squad 13-0.

Influenza and injuries plagued the Railroader squad again as Bluffton came to town and defeated us by a 19 to 7 score. The Railroaders traveled to Nappanee on October 18 and were turned back by a 19-7 score.

Finally, the Auburn game came on Tuesday, October 22. The Railroaders put up a tremendous battle before losing to traditional rivals, Auburn, by the score of 14 to 7.

Railroaders enjoy another

Going undefeated on their home floor for the second straight year, Garrett's Railroaders piled up a respectable 16-4 season record.

Garrett had seven returning lettermen whom Coach Smith used as a foundation for this year's team.

Garrett started out its 1957-58 season in Ashley's brand new gymnasium with an impressive 62-39 victory. Huntertown turned back the Railroaders by a close score of 47-44. The Railroaders added New Haven and Waterloo to their victory string and met C. Catholic head on at the Coliseum in Fort Wayne and were defeated 60-56. Arch-rival Auburn didn't have a chance as the Railroaders scored freely. Kendallville upset the Railroaders on their home floor 60-54 and the Railroaders retaliated to defeat Butler 78-60.

After winning the Holiday Tourney the "Mighty" Railroaders won eight straight including Bluffton, Wolf Lake, Angola, Nappanee, Avilla, Elmhurst, Albion, and Larry Getts out-grabs Fremont's Dan Kaufman for a valuable rebound.

The Railroaders leave the dressing room prepared for another victory.

Larry Getts sinks a basket against Central Catholic.

successful season

Concordia. Decatur upset the Railroaders but Garrett came back to crush Churubusco's Eagles 70-38.

Coach Ward Smith's Railroaders put forth a very good showing before bowing out to Fremont 44-42 in the second games of the Sectional tourney. Another highlight of the season was the "Mighty" Railroaders upset of the NEIAC Champs, Concordia, by a 53-51 score. Fred Salerno scored the winning basket on a pass from Dave Ober with two seconds remaining in the game.

Garrett placed third in the NEIAC and won the Holiday Tourney by defeating Angola 81-49 and a tall talented quintet from Fremont 65-48 to annex its fourth straight Holiday Tourney title. Garrett also had an eleven game winning streak which was stopped abruptly by Decatur.

Garrett's tremendous cooperation among players, their outstanding sportsmanship, and their utmost determination are shown by the success of this year's record.

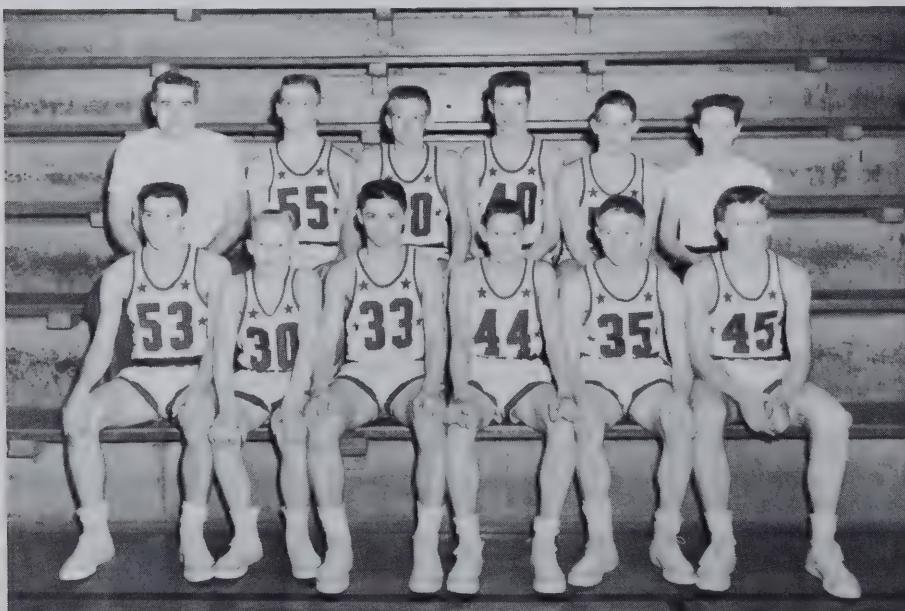

David Ober outjumps his opponent to attempt a layup while Larry Getts watches for a possible rebound.

A Record of pleasant happenings

"What'll you have--popcorn, candy, or cokes?" asks the junior concession workers.

"Forward ever, backward never" seems to be the slogan that the juniors follow. Nearly every member of the class works at the basketball games and dances.

After careful selection and patient waiting, the junior class rings arrived in December. To climax a busy season, Judith Tooman and David Vanderbosch were chosen as co-chairman of the Jr.-Sr. Banquet.

To add a merry touch to the holidays, the Hi-Y, Y-Teen semi-formal dance was held in the high school auditorium. It was entitled "December Paradise".

The Railroaders again copped the holiday tournament and senior skirts made their first appearance then. Each individual girl worked hard on the drawing and painting of her skirt.

Proudly sporting new blue and white reversible shirts, the Pep Club members formed words for entertainment during the half of the basketball games.

The Freshment Party, State music contest, and the sectional Tournament ended many weeks of excitement and activities.

Teachers appear most happy and satisfied at their annual Christmas dinner.

Spring was welcomed by students who were eagerly awaiting the many activities of spring such as the Junior-Senior Banquet, the Picnic, track season, the Senior Class Play, and the Spring Concert; and of course, too, there were those seniors looking forward to their graduation. There was also the fun of lingering and laughing in the sunfilled days, and the hurrying and scurrying on the rainy days which were not quite so welcome, but which were accepted good-naturedly. Yes, Spring found a warm reception in the hearts of all high-school students.

Co-ordination in action-- Gerald McBride.

Garrett continued its winning ways in 1957 under Coach Capin by going undefeated in ten track meets. The Railroaders also won the NEIAC Championship track meet plus the Goshen Relays and the Kokomo Relays.

Three high school records were smashed in 1957. Steve Gordon set a record in the 220-yard dash in a time of 22.2 seconds. Lynn Andrews broke his own record in the low hurdles of 21.3 seconds by running the low sticks in 21 seconds flat. Larry Getts broke his own record in the shot-put of 50'2" by heaving the iron ball 50'6".

In 1958 the Railroaders had nine lettermen returning from last year's team.

Tony Kolbe shows his fellow golf players his stance for a tee off shot.

With Athletic Director Paul Bateman supervising, the Garrett High School team went through the 1957 golf season with a record of 8 wins 5 losses and tied 2. Garrett also won the NEIAC Golf Meet. Tad Schmidt was second in the sectional at Fort Wayne, and Garrett as a team placed 13th. Tad qualified for the State Meet and tied for 3rd with a score of 77.

Garrett had three returning letter-men in 1958 in Dick Rowe, Tony Kolbe, and Tom Beeber.

Participation in the young peoples' organization of a church is important in the lives of many of the students.

Young Citizens of Tomorrow

Joan Lepley goes through her regular duty of sorting mail at the hospital.

Charles Shoudel and Keith Robbins set up canned goods as part of their job after school at the Kroger Store.

The students of Garrett are busy working toward their goal of America's future adults. They are training themselves for the future by taking after school and summer jobs. These jobs are a great help to the student because he earns his own money and learns how to use money wisely.

Another side of the student's life is his religious guidance and training. Besides attending church, many of the people of Garrett High School participate in special youth groups, teach Sunday School classes, and sing in church choirs.

These two things, along with their formal education, help guide the students toward being "better citizens of tomorrow."

Seniors on Stage

The Senior Class of '58 presented the three-act comedy "Cradle Troubadour" on April 10 and 11. The play was directed by Miss Elizabeth Schooley, with Don Thompson as stage manager and Kathleen Nodine as props manager.

Peg and Bill Markley, a young married couple, hire a baby sitter named Touchy Williams. To his surprise a young cousin of Peg's arrives unaware of his identity. While they are getting acquainted the baby disappears; has he been kidnapped? Sergeant McClosky, a policewoman, is called and the kidnapper is found. The kidnapper turns out to be the next door neighbor, Fred Haller, who was playing a practical joke on Bill Markley.

THEO: Bill! How are you!

WANDERING VOICE: Now, look boys!-- Hold on a minute!

These guests were served by harem girls and other characters of the "Arabian Nights".

The Banquet was a Paradise

Junior-Senior Banquet marks the place.... May 3, 1957, marks the time....when the magic carpet glided over the heads of many juniors and seniors who were enjoying the majestic wonder of their "Arabian Paradise". The wonderful stories of the "Arabian Nights" became alive as the colorful murals such as "Alladin and his Magic Lamp," "Sinbad the Sailor," "Ali Baba," and the "Magic Horse" enclosed these magical moments. These exciting and adventurous characters came alive as a colorful band of Arab princes, princesses, and even sultans--(all Garrett sophomores)- served the excellent banquet dinner. A magnificent castle created a lavish background where the wonderful entertainment was held. The formally attired "banqueters" danced to the music of Woody Neff and his orchestra, and they laughed at the funny antics of Dick Stoner, a magician. Vocal numbers were given by Carol Vise, a member of the class of '58, and a versatile boys' quartet from Albion. All in all "Arabian Paradise" provided us with many memories that we will keep with us forever. However, the banquet was only the beginning of the fun-packed all-night party. The Elks provided entertainment with square dancing, and "Swing you Partners!" was heard until 1:30 A.M. This was followed by a double feature movie, a mystery called "Julie" and a western, at the Gala theater. The Eagles then furnished us with a delicious breakfast.

The eyes of the Genie were upon us.

They could have danced all night.

Characters from the "Arabian Nights" catered to every whim of juniors, seniors, and their guests.

The weary square dancers pause and relax for a moment.

Junior-Senior Picnic

The halls of Garrett High echoed with excitement on May 23, 1957, as juniors and seniors donned their picnic clothes for the annual Junior-Senior picnic at Pokagon State Park. Softball, boating, volleyball, hiking, and even swimming, highlighted the fun-packed day. After all of the activity, a hungry group of teenagers and teachers feasted on the main attraction of the day--the potluck supper.

This is a demonstration in what to do with food at a picnic.

All through the year

In this scene we get a glimpse of an important part of each student's schedule all year. Certain things are constant and continuous in a student's life: his friends, the many activities and organizations, the time spent studying and pondering upon the problems of the moment.

Hi-Y

David Vanderbosch, vice-president; Melvin Culler, treasurer; Larry Getts, president; Gordon Holmes, secretary.

The Hi-Y has been an influential club in Garrett High School for many years. This junior and senior boys' club not only stresses citizenship and sportsmanship, but emphasizes training in Christian fellowship. Rev. Walter E. Meyer is again the club's religious advisor.

Initiating new members into the club was the first activity of the new year. In their initiation the new members learned the club slogan: "Clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, clean living," and the club purpose: "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

The main money-making projects were the annual selling of candy and the social dances.

During the year different types of programs were held at the meetings.

The club has been very active under the capable direction of Mr. John Flora and Mr. William Wetzel.

ROW I: Donald Fechner, Gary Parker, Thomas Burtch, Scottie Simpson, Harold Harvey, David Wiant, Rodney McMillan. ## Jr. Hi-Y

Going into their second year of organization, the Jr. Hi-Y is under the sponsorship of Mr. Jones and Mr. R. Smith.

This young and thriving club has a purpose which states in their opening ritual "to transact such business as may come before us, to fortify our high purposes through conference and Bible study, to strengthen the ties of friendship that bind us together, and to make the Jr. Hi-Y Club and ourselves of greater service to our fellows."

A WOWO record hop on November 8 was among their money-making projects.

This club was organized to prepare the boys with Christian training for membership in Hi-Y.

Gary Leggett, Sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Burtch, secretary; James Short, president; Marvin Snook, treasurer; William Duerk, Chaplain; David Wiant, vice-president.

These costumed cuties, Susan Ruhland, Charlene Lovette, Sharon Claxton, Sharon Reiter, and Carol Sue Reed, presented the Y-Teen Halloween program.

Y-Teens

“learning to know ourselves. . . . and others. . . .”

The Y-Teens, a worthwhile and friendly club of junior and senior girls, was at one time known as the Girl Reserves. The Girl Reserves was organized in 1919, and in 1947 the name was changed to Y-Teens. It is now a national organization affiliated with the Young Women's Christian Association.

The club is dedicated to a greater fellowship and understanding among all people. Its functions are cultural, social, community service, and fund raising.

Programs, such as style shows and panel discussions on human interest subjects and pantomimes, are a part of the regular meetings.

The service committee made favors for the hospital at Thanksgiving, and Christmas caroling lent a gay note to the holiday season.

The year ended with the candlelight installation service for new officers. This event emphasizes the religious nature of the Y-Teen organization.

Blue Triangle

The young Blue Triangle members bow to their "big sisters".

Workers as regular as the days

The Blue Triangle, the "little sister" organization of Y-Teens, had a membership of 122. This was the largest number of freshman and sophomore girls ever to be enrolled since the club's founding.

As members of this club they learn to shoulder responsibility by acting as chairmen of committees for the weekly programs. This establishes a cooperative attitude among the girls and helps to develop leadership. The main purpose of this organization is "to find and give the best."

Evryklia Ioannidou, a Greek war orphen, was adopted by this club for the fifth year. She was acquired through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Orphans.

ROW I: Sandra Herendeen, secretary; Barbara Muzzillo, president; Jacqueline Gingrich, vice-president.
ROW II: Janice Brown, song leader; Linda Mitchell, treasurer; Meredith Hoke, devotional chairman; Carolyn Ridenour, program chairman.

In order to build up their treasury the members sold Christmas cards and wrappings. This is an annual money-making project in which the highest salesman receives five dollars. The highest salesmen were Donna Hosler, Janet Tuttle, and Bonnie Myers, with sales totalling $94.25, the largest amount ever sold!

The year began with the initiation of the new members. An impressive candle light service followed a week of gruelling bowing and bending as the freshmen repeated the Blue Triangle purpose to the sophomore girls.

The highlight of the year was the Mother-Daughter Tea. At this social event, the members presented to their mothers a program using their own talent.

"Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to serve" is the motto the FFA members strive to live by.

This club is one of the most active in school. Besides carrying out money-making projects, the members of the club entered several contests this year that were sponsored by the state organization to encourage boys to accomplish more. These contests included: Soil and Water, Safety, and Farm Mechanics.

Operators Club

Don Thompson, James Malcolm, and Kenneth Flora ponder the mechanics of a movie projector.

Operators Club is beginning its fifth year of organization under the direction of Mr. P. Bateman. This club is organized to teach boys how to run the special equipment that the school owns, such as projectors, phonographs, tape recorders, and the new public address system in the auditorium.

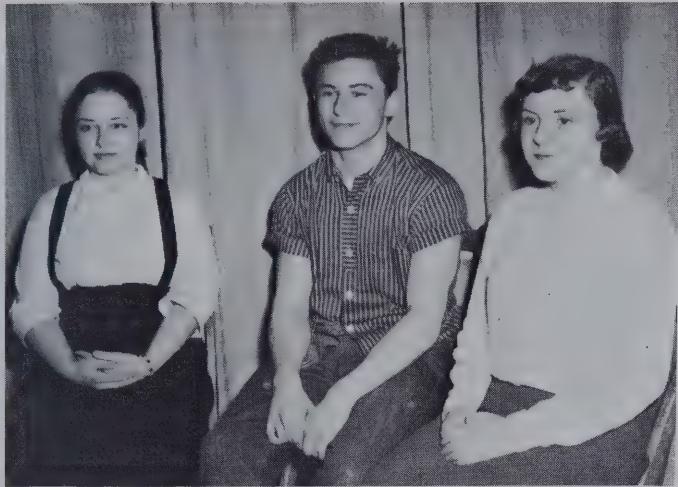

The operation of the public address systems, whether at athletic events, at after-game dances, or in the auditorium for public programs, is a very useful service of this club.

The Club's main purpose is to train boys to run the machines skillfully, thus relieving the teacher of this job. These boys are reliable and available at all times for the school's convenience.

Pep Club

For the third consecutive year, the members of the Pep Club have encouraged the Railroaders on to many victories.

Added attractions this year were the blue and white reversible shirts purchased by the club members. The girls wearing these shirts formed words by turning one way, then another. By adding gloves to their costumes, an unusual effect was also created from the movement of their arms to the rhythm of the band music. During the sectional tournament, committees were organized to make maroon and blue pom-poms and decorate selected windows in the business district.

Music makes the world go 'round

The Garrett High School chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Jeanne Flora, has a total membership of 155 students. The chorus is composed of boys and girls who enjoy singing and are interested in all types of music.

Chorus classes are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. This is the second year for mixed chorus classes.

The special groups consist of thirteen junior girls in an ensemble; the Teenettes, in which there are twelve senior girls; a third group consists of high school boys forming the Boys' Vocal Ensemble and the Senior Boys' Quartet.

The ensemble groups appeared in the district and ensemble contest which was held in Fort Wayne. The smaller groups also appeared all during the year at many local lodge meetings and similar meetings of this kind.

The chorus provided the music for the Thanksgiving program and the December P.T.A. meeting.

A choir selected by Mrs. Flora presented a program at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Fort Wayne.

A busy and fun-filled season was climaxed by the Spring Concert. Both the mixed chorus and the special ensembles were featured in this gala event.

Harmony and hard work

Under the capable direction of the director, Raymond Cole, the band took part in many activities. As a concert band it played for Commencement exercises, the Christmas program for the high school students, and all of the home basketball games. A concert was presented in the spring. During the summer months a series of outdoor concerts were given.

A benefit program in the form of a band concert-dance review was given in the fall to raise money for the band. In the ticket sale contest Sharon Reiter was high salesman.

Nineteen of the members of the band competed in the district music contest in Fort Wayne. Nine of them also went to Indianapolis to the state contest.

The baton twirlers, Violet Esselburn, Pamela Mountz, Sharon Claxton, Deanna Dillon, LuAnn Meyers, and Patricia Pfeiffer make an important contribution to the band. They give much time and effort to their routines for entertainment at the football and basketball games. They also lead the marching band. Three of the twirlers, Pamela, Sharon, and Deanna, qualified for the state baton twirling contest after winning awards at the district contest.

During the year a Scotch bass drum and three snare drums were purchased. These new instruments greatly enhanced the musical delivery and appearance of the band.

The Junior High joins the parade

OFFICERS: Helen Hall, Librarian; Linda Kelley, Secretary; Mr. Cole, Director; Donna Musser, President; Keitha Griffin, Co-Librarian; Karen Shenk, Vice-President.

A Junior High School Band first came into existence this past fall. Thirty-three students qualified for membership and under the capable direction of Raymond H. Cole they have had a successful year. Their handsome uniforms consisting of white trousers, blue capes, and maroon ties were furnished by the Band Parents organization. They performed at the Auburn Fair, the Halloween parade, and at the football and basketball games. In the spring they, along with the high school band, competed in the district band contest and were presented in a concert at the gymnasium.

The twirlers, Karen Shenk and Jean Menges, and the drum major Robert Snook, did their part in making the band's first year a success. They furnished entertainment during intermissions at the football and basketball games and led the group when it marched.

Democracy and good will lead us on.

The Student Council, under the sponsorship of Mr. Lake and Miss Eldridge, was organized in November. It is composed of one representative from each homeroom elected by the members of that homeroom.

Under the leadership of Fred Salerno, the Student Council has worked to create a better understanding between the teachers and students.

Each member acted as a captain for his homeroom in the annual magazine sales campaign. Donations for the Tuberculosis and March-of-Dimes funds were collected and an account of polio inoculations was taken from each student to be kept for further reference.

This year the Student Council began to work on a handbook which will contain a summary of awards, customs, general school behavior, and activities. When it is completed, it will be presented to each student in the high school.

OFFICERS: Edward Mahnesmith, Vice-President; Fred Salerno, President; Kathalee Buckles, Secretary-Treasurer.

To become "the mirror of school life" has been the constant aim of the Maroon and Blue Streamliner.

Under the new advisor, Mr. Richardson, some minor changes were made on the paper, such as the re-organization of the staff and a new type headline. An added attraction this year was the scholastic ROTO, which appeared each month and presented the high school in picture and paragraph.

Writing stories is only one part of journalism; others of equal importance are acquiring subscribers, soliciting advertisers, getting story leads that are of interest to all the students, typing, editing, and distributing. Many hours were spent preparing the "dummy" and getting the paper to press on time.

At the beginning of the second semester, in order to promote the sale of subscriptions and to renew an interest in the paper, a contest was held between the students of the journalism class, and a total of 50 subscriptions were sold at that time.

These met the Maroon and Blue deadlines: Judith Reeves, editor-in-chief; and Mr. Richardson, advisor.

The Big Production

This book represents the growth of our school and has been put together by the yearbook staff under the guidance of Mrs. Sweeney.

Meeting deadlines, getting pictures from Thorne's studio, encouraging the copy writers, allocating the money produced by the business staff, and planning the pages from one to ninety-six make up the duties of the editors and the business manager.

A new feature has been added to the Aeolian this year an index of all the students, teachers, and activities in the school.

The yearbook is your book; may it always represent pleasant memories of your life at Garrett High School.

New faces blend with the old

Mr. Cale Hudson, high school principal, has the duty of supervising and coordinating the activities of the high school.

After graduating from high school in New Castle, Indiana, he attended college at Indiana University and graduated in the class of '49. The two degrees which he has received are the Bachelor of Science and Master of Science in Education.

Before coming to Garrett, Mr. Hudson was principal of the high school in Milan, Indiana. When asked to give some remarks about Garrett High School, he said, "This seems a typically good high school, and the students' attitude toward studies and what they want out of school seems better than average."

Fishing, reading, and athletics are among the favorite pastimes of Mr. Hudson.

Mr. Ben Simpson, assistant principal of Garrett High School, attended Chippewa High School, which is now consolidated with Noble High in Wabash County. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in education from Manchester College. He also has a Master of Science degree from Indiana University with thirty hours of work in addition to that required. His last position as a principal was at Stinesville High School, Stinesville, Indiana.

His duties here include guidance, counseling, and testing. Also, he assists the principal as needed. His favorite pastimes are fishing and golf.

When asked what his thoughts were on Garrett High School, he said that Garrett is one of the better schools in Indiana; that the student body appears respectful and courteous; and that the students give the impression that much hard work has been done by many people in the past to make this school what it is.

One day I sat here
all lonely and sad, and without a friend in the world. Then out of all these gloomy things a voice said cheer up things could be worse.
I just so I cheered up and sure enough things got worse.
